"Can two walk together, except they be agreed?" (Amos 3:3).
 "You are my friend as long as you agree with everything I say." Well, that is not likely to happen. Even in the best of marriages, you won't find 100% agreement on everything. But on the other hand, in order for there to be unity in the church, there has to be some agreement. That is why the apostle Paul wrote about being of the same mind and judgment (1 Cor. 1:10).

Even among the most scholarly of our brethren, (some of the most noted preachers), there are areas in which there is disagreement. For example, in Acts 2:38 Peter speaks of those who will receive "the gift of the Holy Spirit." What is the gift? Some good brothers say it is miraculous, whereas others say the gift is the Spirit Himself. Is one to dis-fellowship a brother if they don't hold the same view you have in this context?

In 2 Cor. 12:7, Paul writes of his "thorn in the flesh." What was it? Good brethren have maintained for years that it was a reference to Paul's problems with his eyesight (Gal. 6:11). The early church fathers decided the thorn had to be a disease. But other good brethren have surmised that the thorn in the flesh may be that Paul had been caught up to the third heaven and had seen things which he was not permitted to speak about (2 Cor. 12:2). It is doubtful we will ever come to 100% agreement.

However, there are some matters where we must have agreement. This is in matters of faith and doctrine. We may never agree on the gift of the Holy Spirit, or Paul's thorn in the flesh, but as it pertains to eternity and salvation, there can be no room for compromise or disagreement. Those things are not matter of opinion.
